Planning for the Annual Sacramento Jazz Jubilee

Tuesday, August 21, 2001

Presenter: Roger Krum

The planning for the annual Sacramento Jazz Jubilee can be classified as a project-type process, with many resource constraints, not least of which is 99.99% of the jubilee's planning and implementation are handled by over 4,000 VOLUNTEERS.

A lot of relationships are coordinated - with musicians, the musicians' union, transportation, lodging for musicians, Regional Transit, the Sacramento Bee, a Jubilee website, international publicity, printers, Cal Expo, sponsors, the City of Sacramento (parking, waste management, police, convention center), hotels, Old Sacramento merchants, SMUD, etc. There are only 4 paid staff.

By the way, there is a time constraint: the 28th Sacramento Jazz Jubilee shall go live May 24-27, 2002 !

About The Speaker:

Roger Krum is the Executive Director of the Sacramento Traditional Jazz Society. See the APICS Sacramento website for further details.

President's (?) Message APICS Sacramento

Calendar

As most of you know, George Cusack had to step down as Chapter President unexpectedly in June and would not be able to fill the position through the next year, as originally thought. George did an outstanding job of leading our chapter. He encouraged us to use email as a communication device versus waiting for the next board meeting. He emailed the newsletters out to all those who preferred an electronic copy over a hard copy – and encouraged APICS region ten to do the same. We will very much miss having George's "futurist" attitude driving our chapter. Thank you George for a wonderful year!!!!

So – where does that leave us?

Currently, we have NO Chapter President. I will be 'acting' Chapter President along with filling my normal position on the board, VP of Marketing, until October 2001 when I will be stepping down to start my second year in UC Davis' MBA program, teaching APICS certification classes, and working full-time.

Until October, I will be frantically looking for people to fill the following positions: Chapter President, VP of Membership and Company Coordinator Manager. If you are remotely interested in any of these three positions OR in any other positions (we may be able to do some bartering), please call me (night or day) at 916/785-1186.

We also have plenty of other opportunities to contribute in the coming year as a Company Coordinator or just as an individual contributor. YOU can make a difference....

Call me - 916/785-1186 – and let's talk. (Really, I don't bite.)

I look forward to hearing from you all soon!
Melanie Hoots
'Acting' Chapter President

Help is Wanted...!

As the editor for 2001-2002, I want to make sure that the newsletter continues to be a great tool for the education and development of the chapter's members.

This is your newsletter, and you can help out by writing a brief article telling the membership about yourself, some interesting projects you've been working on, or a particular topic that you've researched. (Note: You will receive two certification maintenance points for each article relating directly to resource management.)

Maybe you have some ideas of what you'd like to see in future issues of the newsletter. Whatever it is, please send your comments and submissions to Bill Fuller at W_J_Fuller@hotmail.com.

Seminars

World Class Manufacturing: Get Focused with Value Stream Mapping

Offered by Manex & SMUD

In June, Manex began a six-part seminar series on world-class manufacturing. Value Stream Mapping will enable you to intuitively optimize production. Start by identifying each step in your process. You'll learn how to create a map of the ideal flow -- from raw material to customer delivery. Hear how other manufacturers have used value stream mapping to organize their facilities.

When: Wednesday, August 22, 8:30 a.m. to noon

Where: Sacramento Municipal Utility District,
6301 S Street, Sacramento, CA

Cost: $49 per person
($42 for current APICS members)

Contact:

Testimonials

Why are People Taking APICS Review Courses?

"Introduction to Materials Management class is a very good introduction. [The] instructor was fun and informative." — Steven Spanbauer, Financial Manager

"Classes were informative and contained quite a bit of class participation. Overall, I enjoyed the class." — James V. Antolini Jr - Operations Supervisor

"I liked this class. It was informal and had a friendly environment." — John Jensen ☒

Certification Maintenance Corner

Q. Can I earn maintenance points for teaching classes?

A. Yes. Instructors earn two points for each instructional hour of a resource management-related program.

Q. How many points will I earn if I teach a course with a second instructor?

A. Teaching a course earns two points per instructional hour. Instructors are welcome to divide the points in any manner as long as it is mutually agreed upon and the total number of points for a presentation does not exceed 2 points per hour. If instructors choose to divide the points in an inequitable manner, the presenters must provide written agreement and document why the points are being divided in such a way.

Q. Can I earn points more than once a year for teaching the same class? For example, if I teach a Basics of Supply Chain Management review course three times a year, can I earn points every time I teach it?

A. Points are awarded to instructors only once per topic in a given calendar year.☒

2000-2001 Chapter Honorees

Member of the Year: Alan Holst

..... The Board of Directors unanimously voted for Alan based on his extraordinary contributions as the chapter's leading company coordinator. This included bringing more fellow employees to chapter professional development meetings than all the other coordinators combined!

Company of the Year: Ames Company

..... The Board of Directors unanimously voted for the Ames Company based on its continued support of employees' APICS participation. Ames consistently had three or more employees at each monthly professional development meeting and contributed greatly to the direction of the chapter.

Congratulations to these APICS Associates!
