December, 1999

President's Message

This time of year many of us turn our attention to family, friends and caring for others. That is why APICSacramento dispenses with the usual professional development meeting so that you can focus on what means the most to you.

But that doesn't mean that your APICS chapter stands still.

In fact, it's more like the calm before the storm. Events for the new year are in the works and we hope you'll agree that our seminar offerings will be better than ever. You and your company will want to take advantage of one or more seminars geared toward helping your business run better. Please see our education page now and over the next two months for an array of interesting topics.

How are we offering so many seminars? It's called partnering. By building and leveraging relationships, we can provide you and the business community with more than we could if we did everything by ourselves. What you get in return are speakers who have established track records in their fields and command quite a draw in more populated regions in the west.

George Cusack is the member of the Board who has spent numerous hours pulling this all together. If after the holiday season you have a little time to help out please give him a call. He could use some help with some execution-related tasks after all of that planning.

Wishing you and yours a very happy holiday season!

Karen Hess, CPIM, CIRM
President
